

eLibrary[®]

Digital media for the 21st century

Research Made Easy

eLibrary delivers 21st-century solutions for 21st-century learners. It brings together an engaging user-centric interface, interactive web tools, multimedia-rich content, and much more.

Users have access to nearly 2,500 full-text magazines, journals, newspapers, transcripts, and e-books—plus nearly seven million images, maps, websites, videos, and interactive simulations not found in any other online reference resources.

Plus, immediately engage users with contextualized results called ProQuest Essentials. Built around the most-studied and queried topics, each Essential page gathers together best-of content selected to provide a starting point for research.

With eLibrary, it's an all-new way to research with:

- An intuitive user interface that features clear and easy-to-navigate design; and next-generation features common to popular web search engines and online applications.
- Custom content and personalization tools such as timelines and My eLibrary that promote mash-ups and collaboration, and help strengthen 21st-century information skills.
- Media-rich content including high-quality images, streaming video clips, educator-approved websites, interactive video and online content that demonstrates concepts through seeing and doing.
- Smart content ensures what you need first is what you see first—with best-of content that provides comprehensive, foundational understanding of key topics, and pathways for further exploration.
- Curriculum tools that directly support instruction with custom study units and quiz generators; state and national standards correlations; on-the-fly language translations; and Lexiles and reading level indicators.

“eLibrary helps target digital resources to the specific learning and reading needs of students... this enables me to have a closer collaborative relationship with classroom teachers.” —Donna S. Swarr, Library Media Specialist, Hartford, CT

Videos. E-Books. Timelines. Journals. Pictures. Newspapers. Websites.

User-friendly search and Web 2.0 interactivity

Engaging online graphics, videos, full-text articles, and websites

Martin Luther King Jr.

Well I don't know what will happen now. We've got some difficult days ahead. But it doesn't matter with me now. Because I've been to the mountaintop. And I don't mind. Like anybody, I would like to live a long life. Longevity has its place. But I'm not concerned about that now. I just want to do God's will. And He's allowed me to go up to the mountain. And I've looked over. And I've seen the promised land. I may not get there with you. But I want you to know tonight, that we, as a people will get to the promised land. And I'm happy, tonight. I'm not worried about anything. I'm not fearing any man. Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord.

RELATED LINKS
 African American Civil Rights Leaders
 Martin Luther King Day
 Modern Civil Rights Movement

ProQuest Essentials jumpstart research on key topics with context and pathways for exploration

21st-century solutions for 21st-century learners

Find information by keyword, phrase, or Boolean search; or browse by topic, reference desk, or publication. Target content by popular fields such as Lexile, source type, and date; and then, view, print, or email results in one easy step.

Additional tools like auto-citations, timelines and BookCarts, and My eLibrary help students complete coursework; and give teachers the ability to tie content to curriculum, classroom assignments, and learning standards.

To learn more

For more information, call 800-521-0600 or visit our website at www.proquestk12.com.

About ProQuest

Since 1938, ProQuest has provided innovative solutions that connect people and information. We combine remarkable content with innovative technologies to serve educational needs from literature and social studies to science and technology. As one of the largest providers of digital text and multimedia, our resources are central to researchers, educators, and students in over 160 countries.